

BlueLine Denture Teeth (Project 03-21) (8/05)

Ivoclar Vivadent BlueLine denture teeth are designed for complete dentures and a variety of removable partial appliances. The company states these acrylic teeth are fabricated with advanced layering techniques that enable the teeth to replicate the depth, reflection, and beauty of natural teeth. Thirty-six anterior and eight posterior moulds are available in various shapes, types, and shades. In addition, two bleach shades were added to accommodate color matching for patients. BlueLine denture teeth are said to resist wear, chipping, cracking, staining, and allow incorporation of the full spectrum of denture occlusal schemes, including monoplane, lingual contact, combination, semi-anatomical, and fully anatomical.

SUMMARY AND CONCLUSIONS:

Ivoclar Vivadent BlueLine denture teeth are designed for complete dentures and a variety of removable partial appliances. Thirty-six anterior and eight posterior moulds are available in various shapes, types, and shades. They are packaged on tooth cards containing either six anterior or eight posterior teeth. Each tooth card is clearly labeled with the shade and mould of the teeth. BlueLine denture teeth were found to be very esthetic, and easy to use. They were highly rated for their esthetic qualities and ease of use by clinical evaluators. When compared to a leading competitor BlueLine denture teeth are somewhat lower in government pricing. Most evaluators recommended the BlueLine denture teeth for use in other dental laboratories. BlueLine Denture Teeth are rated Acceptable for use in US Air Force dental facilities.
